Docket No.
CP2013-78

NOTICE OF UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE OF PRICES UNDER FUNCTIONALLY EQUIVALENT INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS REPLY SERVICE
COMPETITIVE CONTRACT 3 NEGOTIATED SERVICE AGREEMENT
(March 16, 2015)

In accordance with 39 C.F.R. § 3015.5, the United States Postal Service (Postal Service) hereby gives notice of contingency prices pursuant to an outstanding International Business Reply Service (IBRS) Competitive Contract 3.¹ IBRS competitive contracts are for U.S.-based entities that seek a channel for returned merchandise or other articles from their overseas customers. Such entities typically supply preprinted, prepaid IBRS packaging in which overseas customers can place used or defective consumer items and enter them in the mailstream at no direct cost.² Prices and

¹ The Postal Service is filing this notice in Docket CP2013-78 based on PRC Order No. 2025, in which the Commission determined that contingency prices established pursuant to the IBRS agreement that was the subject of Docket No. CP2012-59 should be considered in Docket No. CP2012-59, instead of in a new docket. PRC Order No. 2025, Notice and Order Concerning Change in Prices Under International Business Reply Service Competitive Contract 3 Negotiated Service Agreement. Docket No. CP2014-36 and CP2012-59, March 18, 2014, at 2.

² See Request of the United States Postal Service to Add International Business Reply Service Contracts to the Competitive Products List, and Notice of Filing (Under Seal) Contract and Enabling Governors' Decision, Docket Nos. MC2009-14 and CP2009-20, December 24, 2008, Attachment 1, at 2 (statement of Jo Ann Miller); see also Notice of United States Postal Service Filing of Functionally Equivalent International Business Reply Service Contracts 1 Negotiated Service Agreement, Docket No. CP2009-22, January 30, 2009, at 3-4 ("In essence, with IBRS, the Postal Service is providing customers an option for return transportation of used or defective lightweight articles. The customers for IBRS contracts, including this one, are businesses that sell lightweight articles to foreign consumers and desire to offer their consumers a way to return those articles for recycling, refurbishing, repair, or other value-added processing.").

classifications not of general applicability for IBRS competitive contracts were previously established by the Decision of the Governors of the United States Postal Service on the Establishment of Prices and Classifications for International Business Reply Service (IBRS) Contracts, issued December 24, 2008 (Governors' Decision No. 08-24).³ Subsequently, the Commission added International Business Reply Service Competitive Contract 3 to the competitive product list.⁴

I. Explanation of Contingency Prices Pursuant to Former Contract

The instant prices occur under a surviving term of an IBRS Competitive Contract 3 that expired on September 30, 2014.⁵ In Order No. 1834, the Postal Regulatory Commission (Commission) noted that the agreement that is the subject of this docket, "like previous IBRS competitive agreements, includes clauses addressing cost increases and contingent pricing which allow the Postal Service flexibility to change rates without entering into a new agreement."⁶ The Commission stated that because the agreement that is the subject of this docket includes contingencies similar to the agreement that is the subject of Docket No. CP2009-20, "the Postal Service must file notice of rate changes occurring under such clauses pursuant to 39 C.F.R. §3015.5 and provide a minimum of 15 days' notice."⁷ Thus, the Postal Service respectfully requests that the Commission include the instant contingency arrangement within the IBRS

³ An unredacted copy of this decision and a record of the Governors' proceedings was filed under seal with the Request of the United States Postal Service to Add International Business Reply Service Contracts to the Competitive Products List, and Notice of Filing (Under Seal) Contract and Enabling Governors' Decision, Docket Nos. MC2009-14 and CP2009-20, December 24, 2008. The notice of filing is available at <http://www.prc.gov/Docs/61/61663/MC2009-14%20IBRS%20Request.pdf>. A redacted copy of the decision was filed simultaneously and is attached to this Notice as described below.

Competitive Contract 3 designation on the competitive products list, due to its functional equivalence to the IBRS 3 baseline contract submitted in Docket Nos. MC2011-21 and CP2011-59 (IBRS 3 baseline contract).⁸

The Postal Service emphasizes that the instant contingency prices are likely to apply to an extremely small number of postal items, due to the mailer's profile and the passage of time since the contract's expiration. The contingency prices provided to the mailer in the letter that is the subject of this docket are to remain in effect unless the Postal Service chooses to modify the rates. Similar to the prices in the letter to an IBRS customer that was the subject of Docket No. CP2013-28, these prices are not limited to the next calendar year.⁹ The Postal Service respectfully urges the Commission to act promptly and proportionately by acknowledging this notice and, if necessary, adding this arrangement to the IBRS Competitive Contract 3 product on the competitive products list as requested.

II. Identification of Filed Materials

The notice to the customer of the instant contingency prices that will take effect on April 1, 2015, and supporting documents establishing compliance with 39 U.S.C. § 3633 and 39 C.F.R. § 3015.5 are being filed separately under seal with the Commission. A redacted version of the notice to the customer is attached as Attachment 1. The certified statement required by 39 C.F.R. § 3015.5(c)(2), with redactions to customer-identifying information, is marked as Attachment 2. In accordance with the Commission's instructions in Order No. 265,¹⁰ the redacted version of the Governors' Decision that authorizes IBRS contracts is included as Attachment 3. The Postal Service's application for non-public treatment of these materials is included with this filing as Attachment 4. A redacted version of the supporting financial documentation is included with this filing as a separate Excel file.

⁸ See PRC Order No. 85, Order Concerning Global Plus Negotiated Service Agreements, Docket Nos. CP2008-8, CP2008-9, and CP2008-10, June 27, 2008, at 8 (applying standards for the filing of functionally equivalent contracts). In PRC Order No. 684, at 6, the Commission stated, concerning the filing of additional IBRS Contracts, that the Postal Service "shall identify all significant differences between any new IBRS Competitive Contract 3 agreement and the baseline agreement."

III. Functional Equivalency of IBRS Competitive Contracts 3

The instant IBRS contingency arrangement is essentially identical to those envisioned in the contracts that the Commission included in the IBRS 3 baseline contract in Docket Nos. MC2011-21 and CP2011-59, albeit with minor procedural variations due to different negotiation outcomes. The nature of the IBRS service provided in the letter that is the subject of this docket and in the IBRS 3 baseline contract is essentially the same, and the instant IBRS contingency arrangement bears similar market characteristics to other IBRS Competitive Contract 3 agreements. To the extent that further comparison might be warranted, the Postal Service incorporates by reference its arguments regarding functional equivalence in Docket No. CP2013-78.¹¹

IV. Conclusion

For the reasons discussed and as demonstrated by the financial data filed under seal, the Postal Service has established that the instant contingency prices under an expired IBRS 3 contract are in compliance with the requirements of 39 U.S.C. § 3633. To the extent such a showing is required, the contingency arrangement is also functionally equivalent to those contemplated by the IBRS 3 baseline contract filed in

March 11, 2015

Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for your continued use of United States Postal Service (USPS) International Business Reply Service (IBRS). We value and appreciate the business relationship that we have with [REDACTED].

As you are aware, the Global Customized Mail Agreement between the USPS and [REDACTED] expired on September 30 2014. Article 27 of that Agreement provides that:

[In] the event that either the Mailer or the USPS terminates this Agreement under the terms of Article 12 before the normal expiration date, or in the event that the Mailer and the USPS do not enter into a customized agreement upon the expiration of this current Agreement, the Mailer shall pay postage for any Qualifying Mail the USPS receives after the agreed upon termination date or expiration date, as appropriate, at the prices listed in Annex 2. These prices shall have no bearing on the price the USPS shall charge in the event that the Mailer and the USPS do enter into a customized agreement upon the expiration of this current Agreement. In the event that the Mailer and the USPS have not entered into a new customized Agreement within six (6) months of the termination or expiration of this current Agreement, the USPS shall charge the Mailer a price to be determined at its sole discretion for those items received after the six (6) month date. The prices listed in Annex 2 are contingent upon any and all necessary approvals for corresponding USPS prices by the USPS Governors, the USPS Board of Governors, and/or the United States Postal Regulatory Commission.

In keeping with the terms of Article 27, the USPS is hereby informing you of the prices it will charge [REDACTED] for International Business Reply Envelopes received from Canada beginning on April 1, 2015. These prices are detailed in an enclosure to this letter. These prices shall stay in effect indefinitely. However, the USPS reserves the right to modify the prices in the future upon thirty (30) days' notice of any such change.

The prices in the enclosed price table are subject to review by the Postal Regulatory Commission (PRC). Please see the enclosed disclosure statement concerning the filing of business information with the PRC. Thank you for your business and your continued support of the USPS.

Sincerely,

Disclosure Statement – USPS Filings with the Postal Regulatory Commission

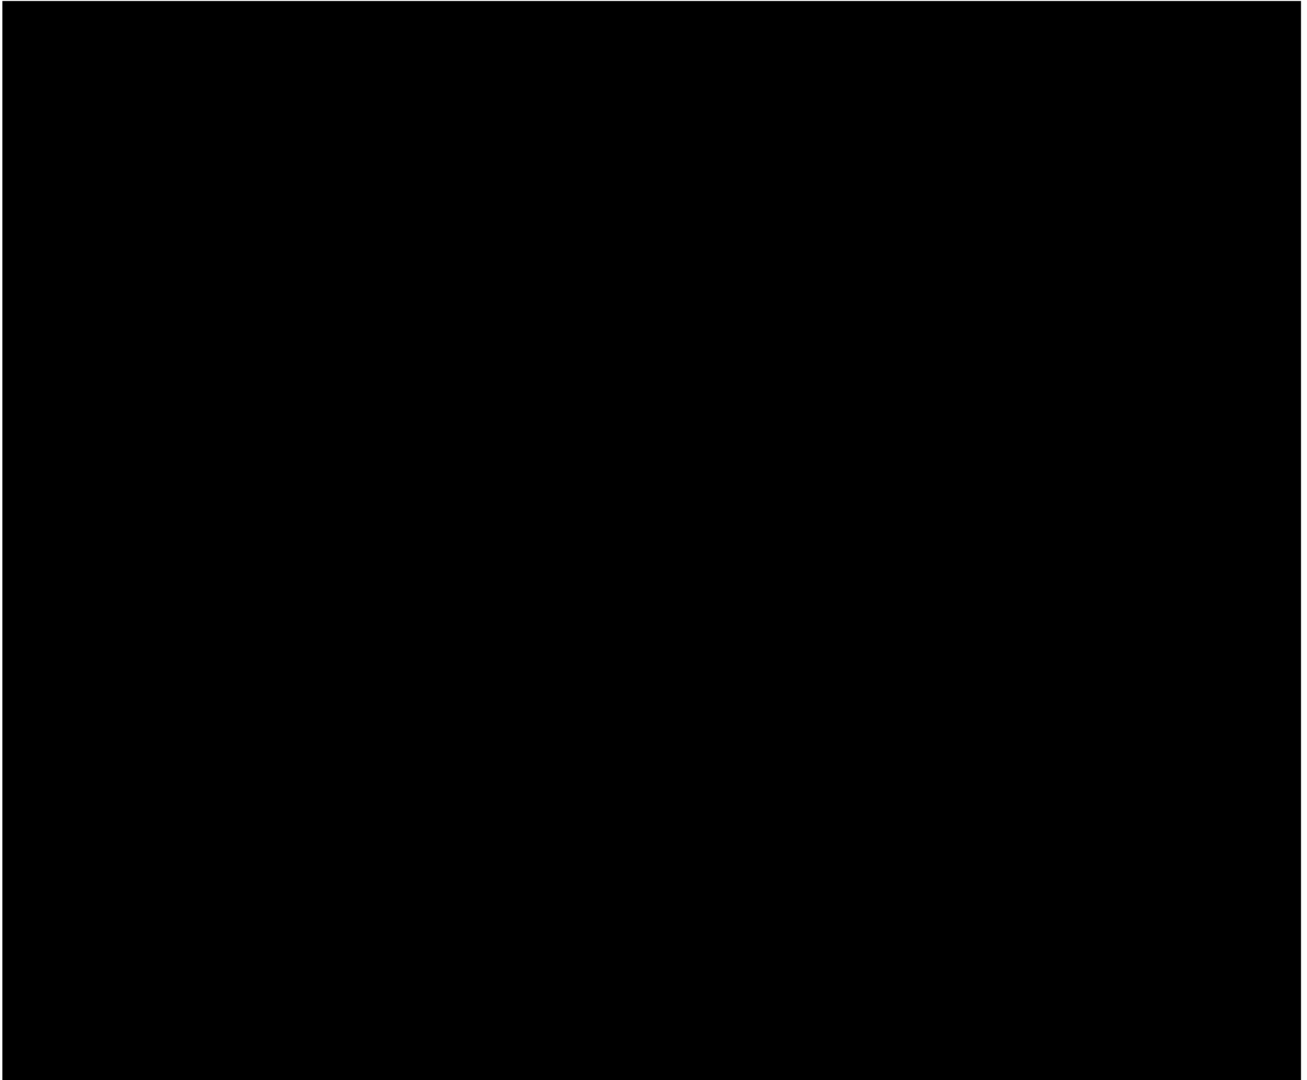

The United States Postal Service (USPS) is subject to regulation by the Postal Regulatory Commission (Commission), which is an independent U.S. government agency. The USPS is aware that [REDACTED] may have an interest in some of the information filed in proceedings at the Commission related to this letter. As a result, if the USPS believes that non-public treatment is appropriate for such information, the USPS will designate such information as "non-public" and file it under seal. In other words, certain information that the USPS provides to the Commission will not be publicly available on the Commission's website, rather, it will be available only to the Commission's staff and third persons who are able to certify that they are not involved in competitive decision making. The seal will apply for ten (10) years, although an interested person may file a request for early termination of the seal. In addition, the USPS may be required to file information in connection with this letter (including revenue, cost, or volume data) in other Commission dockets, including Commission Docket Numbers ACR2015 and ACR2016. Any subsequent Commission Docket Numbers will be identified as ACRXXXX, where XXXX identifies the year in question.

Under U.S. law (Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 3007), whenever the USPS files information non-publicly, the USPS is required to notify any organization that may have an interest in such information that the USPS is filing non-public information with the Commission. Together with such non-public information, the USPS is required to file an application for the Commission to treat such information as non-public ("an application for nonpublic treatment"). Therefore, in accordance with Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 3007.20(b), the USPS is notifying you that it will be filing non-public information with the Commission together with an application for non-public treatment.

The USPS is also required to notify you that your organization may address any confidentiality concerns that you may have directly with the Commission. The procedure for making a third-party application to the Commission for non-public treatment of materials believed to be protected from disclosure may be found at Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 2007.22. You can view these regulations the Commission's website, <http://www.prc.gov/Docs/63/63467/Order225.pdf>.

The USPS will inform you of the docket number for its filing at the Commission concerning this letter once that docket number is assigned. You may be able to access materials related to the enclosed price table under that docket number on the Commission's public website.

PRICES FOR INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS REPLY MAIL ITEMS

ON BEHALF OF [REDACTED]
BEGINNING APRIL 1, 2015

Certification of Prices for the International Business Reply Service Contract with [REDACTED]

I, Virginia Mayes, Manager, Cost Attribution, in Regulatory Reporting and Cost Analysis, Finance Department, United States Postal Service, am familiar with the prices for the International Business Reply Service Contract with [REDACTED]. The prices contained in this Contract were established by the Decision of the Governors of the United States Postal Service on the Establishment of Prices and Classifications for International Business Reply Service Contracts, issued December 24, 2008 (Governors' Decision No. 08-24), which established prices by means of price floor and ceiling formulae.

I hereby certify that the numerical cost values underlying the prices in the [REDACTED] Contract are the appropriate costs to use in the formulas and represent the best available information. The prices, resulting in a cost coverage of in excess of the minimum required by the Governors' Decision, exclusive of pickup on demand and international ancillary services fees, are in compliance with 39 U.S.C § 3633 (a)(1), (2), and (3). The prices demonstrate that the Contract should cover its attributable costs and preclude the subsidization of competitive products by market dominant products. International competitive mail accounts for a relatively small percentage of the total contribution by all competitive products. Contribution from International Business Reply Service Contracts should be even smaller. The Agreement with [REDACTED] should not impair the ability of competitive products on the whole to cover an appropriate share of institutional costs.

DECISION OF THE GOVERNORS OF THE UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE ON THE ESTABLISHMENT OF PRICES AND CLASSIFICATIONS FOR INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS
REPLY SERVICE (IBRS) CONTRACTS (GOVERNORS' DECISION No. 08-24)

December 24, 2008

STATEMENT OF EXPLANATION AND JUSTIFICATION

Pursuant to our authority under section 3632 of title 39, United States Code, as amended by the Postal Accountability and Enhancement Act of 2006 ("PAEA"), we establish new prices not of general applicability for certain of the Postal Service's competitive service offerings, and such changes in classification as are necessary to implement the new prices. This decision establishes prices by setting price floor and price ceiling formulas for certain International Business Reply Service (IBRS) contracts for inbound Letter Post content other than items classified as "letters" subject to the Private Express Statutes. The types of contracts to which these prices will apply are described in Attachment A,¹ the price floor and price ceiling formulas are specified in Attachment B, and management's analysis of the appropriateness of these formulas is explained in Attachment C. We have reviewed that analysis and have concluded that the prices emerging from application of the formulas and the classification changes are in accordance with 39 U.S.C. §§ 3632-3633 and 39 C.F.R. §§ 3015.5 and 3015.7. Contracts that fall within the terms specified in Attachment A, and whose prices fall within the price ranges established by the price floor and price ceiling formulas specified in Attachment B, are hereby authorized.

The PAEA provides that prices for competitive products must cover each product's attributable costs, not result in subsidization by market dominant products, and enable all competitive products to contribute an appropriate share to the Postal Service's institutional costs. We have determined that prices established according to the formulas listed in Attachment B would be appropriate for the services covered by the types of IBRS Contracts classified in Attachment A. Management's analysis of the formulas, included as Attachment C, supports our decision to establish prices through such formulas for the specified types of contracts.

We are satisfied that the prices established by the formulas in Attachment B meet the applicable statutory and regulatory requirements. The price floor formulas provide greater than 100 percent coverage of the costs attributable to each of these types of agreements. We accept and rely upon the certification in Attachment D that the correct cost inputs for the formulas have been identified. In addition, the price floor formulas [REDACTED] [REDACTED] should cover the agreements' attributable costs and provide a contribution toward the Postal Service's institutional costs. The formulas should thus prevent cross-subsidies from market dominant products. As noted in the certification in Attachment D, entry into agreements pursuant to this Decision should not impair the ability of competitive products as a whole to cover an appropriate share of institutional costs.

No agreement authorized pursuant to this Decision may go into effect unless it is submitted to the Postal Regulatory Commission with a notice that complies with 39 C.F.R. § 3015.5 and any other rules that the Commission deems applicable. The notice must include a financial analysis that demonstrates that the agreement covers its attributable costs, based on [REDACTED] Attachment B. The notice must also include a certification from a Postal Service official that the numerical values chosen for each agreement are appropriate, in that they represent the best available information and that the agreement should not result in a cross-subsidy from market dominant products and should not impair the ability of competitive products, as a whole, to cover an appropriate share of institutional costs.

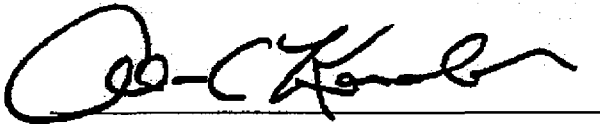

ORDER

In accordance with the foregoing Decision of the Governors, the formulas set forth herein, which establish prices for the applicable IBRS contracts, and the changes in classification necessary to implement those prices, are hereby approved and ordered into effect. An agreement is authorized under this Decision only if the prices fall within the formulas set by this Decision and the certification process specified herein is followed. After an authorized agreement is entered into, the Postal Service shall comply with all applicable statutory and regulatory requirements.

Prices and classification changes established pursuant to this Decision will take effect after filing with and completion of review by the Postal Regulatory Commission.

Certification as to the Formulas for Prices Offered Under Applicable International Business Reply Service Contracts

I, W. Ashley Lyons, Manager, Corporate Financial Planning, Finance Department, United States Postal Service, am familiar with the price floor formula and price ceiling formula for International Business Reply Service (IBRS) Contracts, which are set forth in Attachment B.

I hereby certify that these formulas adequately represent all necessary [REDACTED]. If the Postal Service were to enter into agreements that set prices above the price floor, the Postal Service would be in compliance with 39 U.S.C § 3633 (a)(1), (2), and (3). The price floor formula is designed to ensure that each agreement should cover its attributable costs and preclude the subsidization of competitive products by market dominant products. In Fiscal Year 2007, all outbound international competitive mail accounted for approximately 11 percent of the total contribution by all competitive products. Contribution from IBRS Contracts should be much smaller. Even if all the agreements for IBRS Contracts are signed at the price floor, they should not impair the ability of competitive products on the whole to cover an appropriate share of institutional costs.

APPLICATION OF THE UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE FOR NON-PUBLIC TREATMENT OF MATERIALS

In accordance with 39 C.F.R. § 3007.21 and Order No. 225,¹ the United States Postal Service (Postal Service) hereby applies for non-public treatment of certain materials filed with the Commission in this docket. The materials pertain to contingency prices under a former International Business Reply Service (IBRS) Competitive Contracts 3 contract that the Postal Service believes is functionally equivalent to previously filed IBRS agreements. The Postal Service is filing the notice to the customer concerning prices, which will take effect on April 1, 2015, and supporting documents establishing compliance with 39 U.S.C. § 3633 and 39 C.F.R. § 3015.5, separately under seal with the Commission. The Postal Service is also filing redacted versions of these materials publicly.²

The Postal Service hereby furnishes the justification required for this application by 39 C.F.R. § 3007.21(c) below.

(1) The rationale for claiming that the materials are non-public, including the specific statutory basis for the claim, and a statement justifying application of the provision(s);

Information of a commercial nature, which under good business practice would not be publicly disclosed, as well as third party business information, is not required to be disclosed to the public.³ The Commission may determine the appropriate level of confidentiality to be afforded to such information after weighing the nature and extent of the likely commercial injury to the Postal Service against the public interest in maintaining the financial transparency of a government establishment competing in commercial markets.⁴ Because the portions of materials filed non-publicly in this docket fall within the scope of information not required to be publicly disclosed, the Postal Service asks the Commission to support its determination that these materials are exempt from public disclosure and grant its application for their non-public treatment.

² The Postal Service informed the customer prior to filing its notice that it would be seeking non-public treatment of the redacted portions of the contract. The Postal Service also informed the customer that it could file its own application for non-public treatment of these materials in accordance with 39 C.F.R. § 3007.22.

(2) Identification, including name, phone number, and email address for any third-party who is known to have a proprietary interest in the materials, or if such an identification is sensitive, contact information for a Postal Service employee who shall provide notice to that third party;

In the case of an IBRS Competitive contract, the Postal Service believes that the only third parties with a proprietary interest in the materials are the customer with whom the contract is made and Canada Post. The Postal Service maintains that customer identifying information should be withheld from public disclosure. Therefore, rather than identifying the customer of the contract under consideration, the Postal Service gives notice that it has already informed the customer, in compliance with 39 C.F.R. § 3007.20(b), of the nature and scope of this filing and the customer's ability to address its confidentiality concerns directly with the Commission. The Postal Service employee responsible for providing notice to the customer with proprietary interest in the materials filed in these dockets is Ms. Kathy L. Lynch, Sales Support Specialist, Global Business,

⁴ 39 U.S.C. § 504(g)(3)(A). The Commission has indicated that "likely commercial injury" should be construed broadly to encompass other types of injury, such as harms to privacy, deliberative process, or law enforcement interests. PRC Order No. 194, Second Notice of Proposed Rulemaking to Establish a Procedure for According Appropriate Confidentiality, Docket No. RM2008-1, March 20, 2009, at 11.

United States Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, SW, Room 5425, Washington, DC 20260-4017, whose email address is kathy.l.lynch@usps.gov, and whose telephone number is 202-268-6662. The Postal Service has already provided notice to Canada Post. The Postal Service identifies Terry Dunn, General Manager, International Relations, Canada Post Corporation, as the appropriate contact on behalf of Canada Post. Mr. Dunn's telephone number is (613) 734-8894, and his email address is terry.dunn@canadapost.ca. Canada Post requests that any communications regarding confidential treatment of these data be sent with a courtesy copy to Ewa Kowalski, Director, International Mail Settlement, Canada Post Corporation. Ms. Kowalski's telephone number is (613) 734-6201, and her email address is ewa.kowalski@canadapost.ca.⁵

(3) A description of the materials claimed to be non-public in a manner that, without revealing the materials at issue, would allow a person to thoroughly evaluate the basis for the claim that they are non-public;

In connection with its Notice filed in this docket, the Postal Service included a notice to the customer of contingency prices and financial work papers. The Postal Service filed these materials under seal, with redacted copies filed publicly, and the Postal Service provided notice to the customer. The Postal Service maintains that the redacted portions of the customer notice and related financial information, including identifying information related to the customer, should remain confidential.

With regard to the notice of contingency prices filed in this docket, some redacted information in the cover letter constitute the name or address of a postal patron whose identifying information may be withheld from mandatory public disclosure by virtue of 39 U.S.C. § 504(g)(1) and 39 U.S.C. § 410(c)(2). The redactions made in the pages following the cover letter withhold the actual prices that are being designated as applicable to items that continue to be tendered to the Postal Service for delivery under the now-expired contract.

The redactions applied to the financial work papers protect commercially sensitive information such as underlying costs and assumptions, pricing formulas, information relevant to the mailing profile of the customer, and cost coverage projections. To the extent practicable, the Postal Service has limited its redactions in the work papers to the actual information it has determined to be exempt from disclosure under 5 U.S.C. § 552(b). However, in a limited number of cases, narrative passages, such as words or numbers in text, were replaced with general terms describing the redacted material. For example, where the customer's name appears in the spreadsheet within a cell, it has been replaced by the word "Mailer."

(4) Particular identification of the nature and extent of commercial harm alleged and the likelihood of such harm;

If the portions of the price change notice that the Postal Service determined to be protected from disclosure due to their commercially sensitive nature were to be disclosed publicly, the Postal Service considers that it is quite likely that it would suffer commercial harm. First, revealing customer identifying information would enable competitors to focus marketing efforts on current or recent postal customers which have been cultivated through the efforts and resources of the Postal Service. The Postal Service considers that it is highly probable that if this information were made public, its competitors would take immediate advantage of it. Therefore, there is a substantial likelihood of losing the customers to a competitor that targets them with lower pricing.

Second, the financial workpapers include specific information such as costs, assumptions used in pricing formulas, the formulas themselves, mailer profile information, projections of variables, contingency rates included to account for market fluctuations and the exchange risks. All of this information is highly confidential in the business world. If this information were made public, the Postal Service's competitors would have the advantage of being able to determine the absolute floor for Postal Service pricing. Unlike its competitors, the Postal Service is required to demonstrate that each negotiated agreement within this group covers its attributable costs. Thus, competitors would be able to take advantage of the information to offer lower pricing to the IBRS Competitive Contracts customers, while subsidizing any losses with profits from other customers. Eventually, this could freeze the Postal Service out of the international return delivery services market. Given that these spreadsheets are filed in their native format, the Postal Service's assessment is that the likelihood that the information would be used in this way is great.

Disclosure of the prices in the price notice would reveal to competitors the Postal Service's levels of pricing for this service, thereby allowing them to offer lower prices and undercut the Postal Service's marketing efforts. Moreover, disclosure of such information could be used by competitors of the customer to assess its underlying costs, and thereby develop a benchmark for the development of a competitive alternative.

In addition, information in the financial spreadsheets also consists of sensitive commercial information of Canada Post. Disclosure of such information could be used by competitors of Canada Post to develop competitive alternatives to its products.

(5) At least one specific hypothetical, illustrative example of each alleged harm;

Identified harm: Revealing customer identifying information would enable competitors to target the customers for sales and marketing purposes.

Hypothetical: The identity of the customer in this contract is revealed to the public.

Another delivery service has an employee monitoring the filing of IBRS Competitive Contracts and passing along the information to its sales function. The competitor's sales representatives can then quickly contact the Postal Service's customer and offer the customer lower rates or other incentives to use the competitor's services instead of entering a new IBRS Competitive Contract with the Postal Service.

Identified harm: Public disclosure of prices or information in the financial work papers would be used by competitors to the detriment of the Postal Service.

Hypothetical: A competing package delivery service obtains a copy of the unredacted version of the prices or the financial work papers from the Postal Regulatory Commission's website. It analyzes the materials to determine what the Postal Service would have to charge its customers in order to meet its minimum statutory obligations for cost coverage and contribution to institutional costs. It then sets its own rates for products similar to what the Postal Service offers its IBRS Competitive Contracts customers under that threshold and markets its ability to guarantee to beat the Postal Service on price for international delivery services. By sustaining this below-market strategy for a relatively short period of time, the competitor, or all of the Postal Service's competitors acting in a likewise fashion, would freeze the Postal Service out of the relevant delivery services market for which the IBRS Competitive Contracts product is designed.

Identified harm: Public disclosure of information in the financial workpapers would be used by the customer's competitors to its detriment.

Hypothetical: A firm competing with the customer obtains a copy of the unredacted version of the contract and financial work papers from the Postal Regulatory Commission's website. The competitor analyzes the prices and the work papers to assess the customer's underlying costs for the corresponding delivery products. The competitor uses that information as a baseline to develop lower-cost alternatives.

Identified harm: Public disclosure of information in the financial workpapers and notice to the customer would be used by Canada Post's competitors to its detriment.

Hypothetical: A competing international delivery service obtains a copy of the unredacted version of the financial workpapers and notice to the customer from the Postal Regulatory Commission's website. The competitor analyzes the financial workpapers and notice to the customer to assess Canada Post's prices. The competitor uses that information to target its competitive offerings accordingly.

(6) The extent of protection from public disclosure deemed to be necessary;

The Postal Service maintains that the redacted portions of the materials filed non-publicly should be withheld from persons involved in competitive decision-making in the relevant market for international delivery products (including both private sector integrators and foreign postal administrations), as well as their consultants and attorneys. Additionally, the Postal Service believes that actual or potential customers of the Postal Service for this or similar products should not be provided access to the non-public materials.

(7) The length of time deemed necessary for the non-public materials to be protected from public disclosure with justification thereof:

The Commission's regulations provide that non-public materials shall lose non-public status ten years after the date of filing with the Commission, unless the Commission or its authorized representative enters an order extending the duration of that status. 39 C.F.R. § 3007.30.

(8) Any other factors or reasons relevant to support the application.

None.
